
MFJ-2822 Truck Trailer Hitch Antenna Mount

INTRODUCTION

The MFJ-2822 is a universal hitch mount for most light weight HF, VHF, and UHF mobile antennas. It is designed to fit into standard 2 inch receiver hitch that is normally use for towing. A standard 3/8 inch gum drop adapter is pre-mounted so that any ham stick or other antenna with this mount can be attached to the MFJ-2822 and a standard PL-259 can be used for the coax connection. This type of mount makes it easy to attach or remove the antenna with little effort or time. It also provides another mounting option when no other is available.

A second “D” mounting hole is supplied for a VHF/UHF SO-239 connector. Use this option for antennas such as dual band mobiles. Do not attempt to mount two antennas to the MFJ-2822 at the same time. The antennas will be too close together causing power coupling from one to the other that will damage your radio.

INSTALLATION

- Install the MFJ-2822 into the receiver hitch the same way you would install a towing bar. The same pin used for the towing bar will be used to hold the MFJ-2822 in place.
- If you do not have this pin, they are available at most stores that sell auto accessories. A large bolt can be used to secure the mount but this is not recommended as it will require tools to remove it. This will be inconvenient as the tailgate/liftgate of the vehicle can not be opened with the unit in place.
- The mount will have some play inside the receiver opening. This is normal as the hitch is designed this way.
- Connecting a ground strap with a quick connect to the MFJ-2822 is recommended as the hitch does not supply the antenna with a secure ground connection.
